- Samsung Health U.S. Privacy Notice

  Effective Date: January 13th, 2025

  Samsung Electronics Co., Ltd., along with our affiliates and subsidiaries (collectively, " Samsung ") respects your concerns about privacy. This Samsung Health Privacy Notice applies to the personal information we obtain through Samsung Health (the " Service "). It does not apply to information collected by other apps, websites or services provided by Samsung. If you are a minor, please refer to our Samsung Health U.S. Privacy Notice for Minors with a parent or guardian, which will help you understand better what information we collect and how we use it.

  This Privacy Notice supplements the Samsung Privacy Policy (available at https://www.samsung.com/us/account/privacy-policy) (" Samsung Privacy Policy "), the Washington Consumer Health Data Privacy Statement (available at https://www.samsung.com/us/privacy-policy/washington-privacy-notice/) (" Washington Statement "), and the Nevada Consumer Health Data Privacy Statement (available at https://www.samsung.com/us/privacy-policy/nevada-privacy-notice/) (" Nevada Statement "), and provides additional information about how we may collect, use and share your personal information in connection with the Service. In the event any portion of this Privacy Notice conflicts with the Samsung Privacy Policy, Washington Statement, and/or the Nevada Statement, the relevant provisions of this Privacy Notice will govern.

Information We Obtain

Through the Service, we may obtain information about you in various ways. The types of personal information we may obtain include:

Information You Provide Directly

• Samsung account, contact, and Samsung Health profile information (such as name, date of birth, gender, profile photo and postings, email address, telephone number, postal code, and country).
• Health and wellness-related data (such as height, weight, heart rate, body fat, skeletal muscle, muscle mass, basal metabolic rate, heart rate variability, advanced glycation end-products, blood glucose level, blood pressure level, oxygen saturation level, hemoglobin (HbA1c) level, mood, breathing, information related to your menstrual cycle, stress level and sleep-related information).
• Fitness and nutrition-related information (such as activity levels, types of exercise, exercise programs, number of steps, speed, distance, food, and water intake).
• Medication information (such as medication name, added date and time, scheduled date and time/frequency for medication reminders, taken/skipped date and time, archived date and time, type, strength, shape, color and selected lifestyle factors for drug interaction information).
• Information about and from Samsung or third-party devices and apps you choose to connect to Samsung Health (such as third-party device manufacturers, models, and identifiers, and third-party app IDs, including social media IDs). We also collect data, such as health and wellness-related data and fitness and nutrition-related information when you link Samsung Health with Samsung or third-party devices and apps, including when such data is saved to your Samsung Health app.

• Content you send or receive through Samsung Health, including messages you send and receive while using the Together feature.

Information We Obtain By Automated Means

• Information about your use of Samsung Health (such as messages sent or received in Samsung Health, Samsung Health settings, and in-app usage information, including menus and settings clicked, features used, frequency and duration of use of Samsung Health, and any error messages displayed). We also collect any information stored in cookies we have set on your device

• Device information (such as firmware version, operating system, and device IDs, including MAC address, Android ID, serial number, and mobile advertiser IDs).

• Location data: Bluetooth and Wi-Fi signals and other information related to your location and with your permission your device's precise geolocation when you use location-based features. Please note that if you decline to allow Samsung Health to collect your precise geolocation, you may not be able to use all of the Samsung Health services or features.)

We also may collect other information about you, your devices and apps, and your use of the Service in ways that we describe to you at the time of collection or otherwise with your consent.

Together Feature

When you use the Together feature, you can choose to take on available challenges against other Samsung Health users, including your friends.

Your profile information (such as your nickname, photo, activity levels and friends list) is open to other users of Together. If you choose to sync contacts, your contact list is collected, and if any of your contacts is a Samsung Health user, that contact will automatically be added to your friends list. If any of your contacts is not a Samsung Health user, their numbers will be deleted immediately from our server.

You can go to Samsung Health settings > Together to disable syncing of your contacts, however, this will not affect the contacts already synced prior to your disabling.

How We Use the Information We Obtain

We may use the information we obtain through the Service for the purposes described in the Samsung Privacy Policy and to:

• respond to your requests and inquiries
• communicate with you about Samsung Health.
• provide services or features that you request, including data back-up and sync services for Samsung account users, as well as linking with third party apps, services, and devices.
• deliver customized content, such as importing your workout routine from another app into Samsung Health, and recommendations tailored to your interests and the manner in which you interact with Samsung Health.
• provide promotions and offers by way of direct marketing communications, only where you have given us your separate consent;
• operate, evaluate, and improve our business (including developing new products, enhancing and improving our products and Samsung Health, managing our communications, analyzing our products, consumer base, and Samsung Health, performing data analytics, and performing accounting, auditing, and other internal functions).

• protect against, identify, and prevent fraud and other criminal activity, claims, and other liabilities.
• comply with and enforce applicable legal requirements, relevant industry standards, and our policies, including this Privacy Notice.

We may use and combine the information we collect about you from Samsung Health with data from other services or features you use and your devices, and other sources, to provide you with a better experience. We may also use the information you provide directly or through other sources as described above to provide content you may like or that has been personalized. For example, when you link Samsung Health to certain third party apps, services, or devices, we may provide a recommendation related to or based off this linking.

We may collect personal information about your online activities on connected devices over time and across third-party websites, devices, apps and other online features and services.

Information Sharing

As stated above, this Privacy Notice supplements the Samsung Privacy Policy (available at https://www.samsung.com/us/account/privacy-policy), which describes our information sharing practices.

Notice To California Residents

If you are a California consumer, for more information about your privacy rights, please see the California Consumer Privacy Statement (available at https://www.samsung.com/us/account/privacy-policy/california).

State Law Privacy Rights

Samsung Health U.S. Privacy Notice for Minors

Effective Date: January 13th, 2025

We (Samsung Electronics Co., Ltd. and our related companies) care about your privacy. This Privacy Notice will explain how we handle information about you when you use Samsung Health (the " Service"). If you have any questions while reading this Privacy Notice, we recommend you sit with a parent or guardian to help you review and understand this Privacy Notice.

Please note that this is a simplified version of the Samsung Health U.S. Privacy Notice made for minors (those under 18 years of age), not a substitute.

Information We Get

When you use the Service, we may collect, and you might share with us, certain information about you. These include:

Information You Choose to Give Us

• Samsung account, contact, and Samsung Health profile information (such as name, date of birth, gender, profile photo and postings, email address, telephone number, postal code, and country).
• Health and wellness-related data (such as height, weight, heart rate, body fat, skeletal muscle, muscle mass, basal metabolic rate, heart rate variability, blood glucose level, blood pressure level, hemoglobin (HbA1c) level, mood, breathing, stress level and sleep-related information).
• Fitness and nutrition-related information (such as activity levels, types of exercise, exercise programs, number of steps, speed, distance, food, and water intake).
• Medication information (such as medication name, added date and time, scheduled date and time/frequency for medication reminders, taken/skipped date and time, archived date and time, type, strength, shape, color and selected lifestyle factors for drug interaction information).

Information We Get Automatically

• Information about what you're using: This is information about your device, like what kind of device you are using, what settings you have turned on or off, and information that lets us know which device is yours (these are called identifiers).
• Information about how you use the Service: How, when, and for how long you use Samsung Health, the devices you connect, and the apps or websites you visit.
• Information about where you are: We may collect information about your location, including by using Bluetooth and Wi-Fi. If you (or your parent or guardian) allow us, we may collect information about your location to tell us better and more exactly where you are (this is called geolocation). Your device will let you know when we are collecting your geolocation.

We may also collect other information about you, your devices and apps, and how you use Samsung Health when you allow us. When we do, we will explain it to you.

How We Use the Information

We may use the information we get through the Service for the purposes below. We may not use your information for some of the purposes depending on how old you are. For example, if you're under 13 we won't use your information for personalized ads or marketing.

• make sure it is you that is using Samsung Health;
• let you use Samsung Health;
• make the service better;
• show and provide you with features you might like;
• let you ask questions and give instructions through or about Samsung Health and respond to them;
• if you have turned on Customization Service, use the information to provide customized content and recommendations. More details are available in the Customization Service privacy notice (available at https://terms.samsungconsent.com/j5p7ll8g33/CZSVC/1.2/USA/USA_eng.html); and
• let you use apps and services that aren't from Samsung if they're available.

Sharing Your Information

We may share your information with other Samsung companies, business partners, and service providers that help us run the Service. Sometimes, we are required by law to share information for legal purposes, or public safety. Additionally, we may share your information when you give us permission or request it. If you don't understand, please ask your parent or guardian about the Who Do We Share Your Information With? section of our Privacy Policy (available at https://www.samsung.com/us/account/privacy-policy).

How Long We Keep Your Information

We don’t keep your personal information if we don’t need it. Your information will be kept for as long as it is needed to provide you with the Service, as required by law (government rules) or contracts (promises we made to other companies), or only for as long as necessary for one of the purposes above.

Once it is no longer needed, we will either delete it or anonymize it (meaning we won’t know it’s your information).

What Can You Ask Us To Do With Your Information?

Depending on where you live, you (or your parent or guardian) have the right to ask us to:

• give you a copy of the information we have about you and in a way other devices can read this information;
• update or fix your information;
• delete your information;
• stop the selling of your information, sharing it with certain third parties for personalized advertising, or personalized advertising;

• collecting or using sensitive information. Sensitive information is information like your health information; or
• collecting your information using a voice recognition feature.

You (or if you're under 13 your parent or guardian) can make these requests by calling us at 1-800-SAMSUNG (1-800-726-7864) or by clicking here. If you ask us to delete or stop using your information, some parts of the Service might not work as expected. Always talk to your parents or guardian if you are not sure.

Updates to This Privacy Notice

We may update this Privacy Notice from time to time. If we make significant changes, we will let you know before we update this Privacy Notice through the Service or email if we have one. You can always see when we last made changes to this Privacy Notice by checking the date at the top.
