Information We Collect

The information Sharecare collects is highly variable based on the type of Services you use and the manner in which you access them. Depending on these factors, Sharecare may collect the following information about you:

Personal Information. This is any information that directly or indirectly identifies you, such as your name, email address, or other identifying information about you.

Protected Health Information ("PHI"). PHI is your Personal Information that is protected under the U.S. Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 ("HIPAA"). HIPAA and other laws closely regulate how Sharecare may handle, protect, and share your PHI. Sharecare may offer certain Services to you based on your relationship with employers, healthcare providers, insurance companies, or other entities (each an "Enterprise Organization") with an interest in your health ("Enterprise Programs"). If such Enterprise Organizations are Covered Entities as defined by HIPAA, Sharecare must comply with HIPAA in connection with the corresponding Enterprise Program. PHI is considered a subset of Personal Information.

Health Information that is Not PHI. If you are engaging with Sharecare's consumer-oriented Services, i.e. not as a member or patient as a Covered Entity as defined by HIPAA, we may collect health-related information such as your health conditions, symptoms, measurements (e.g. height, weight), diagnoses, treatments, and other similar information as would be typical of one's personal health history. We may also collect information related to health topics you are researching on our sites, which or may or may not be indicative of your own health-related information. We may also collect information identifying your attempts to seek healthcare services (including, in limited cases and only with your express consent via your device, specific location information) through your use of provider-search or similar tools. Identifiable health information is considered a subset of Personal Information.

Other Information. Other Information is information that, by itself, does not individually identify you such as browser type, operating system, technical data, and usage. We may link together different types of Other Information or link Other Information to Personal Information and/or Health Information..

How We Collect Information

We collect information in the following ways:

- Information You Give Us Upon Registration. Many of our Services require you to sign up for a Sharecare Account. When you do, we'll ask for Personal Information like your name, date of birth, email address, telephone number or credit card. If you want to take full advantage of the sharing features we offer, we might also ask you to create a publicly visible Sharecare Profile, which may include your name and photo.
- Information from Your Employer or Health Plan. When you are eligible to participate in an Enterprise Program, an Enterprise Organization may provide us with PHI such as your name, date of birth, gender, mailing address, health coverage details, and health plan identification number, among other things. In connection with certain services, we may receive claims and other health-specific information from your health plan and/or its carriers. We use this information to provide services to you on behalf of your health plan or employer, in our capacity as a business associate under HIPAA.
- Information Provided to Us by Your Healthcare Provider or Third-Party Lab. When you participate in an Enterprise Program and engage with an advocate or participate in a health screening, with your authorization we may receive information from your health provider or third-party lab such as your health records, biometric data and blood test data and results.
- Information from Other Sources. We may obtain information about you from affiliates, partners, and other third parties. This information may be used to provide Services to you and to provide analysis about you in comparison to people who are demographically similar to you. We may combine the information we obtain from third parties with information that we have collected about you.
- Information We Get from Your Use of Services. We may collect information about the Services that you use and how you use them. This information includes:
  - Information You Provide. We may collect information provided by you while using our Services. For example, your completion of the RealAge Test results in our collection of the information you provide in response to its questions.
  - Computer, Tablet, or Mobile Telephone information. We may collect device-specific information such as your hardware model, operating system version, unique device identifiers, device sensors and mobile network information including phone number. Sharecare may associate your device identifiers or phone number with your Sharecare Account. We will comply with the usage/license restrictions and requirements applicable to the device from which the information comes.
  - Information from Wearables: When you connect your wearable fitness tracker, heart rate monitor, pedometer or other wearable technology ("Wearable") with the Services, we may collect information about your steps, fitness activities, exercise frequency, sleep, and information about nutrition, such as calorie intake, nutritional statistics, blood pressure, and other biometric data. You may disable this integration through your device.
  - Log Information. When you use our Services or view content provided by Sharecare, we may automatically collect and store certain information in server logs. This may include:
    - details of how you used our service;
    - Internet protocol address;
    - device event information such as crashes, system activity, hardware settings; browser type, browser language, the date and time of your request and referral URL; and
    - cookies that may uniquely identify your browser or your Sharecare Account.
  - Location Information. The large majority of Sharecare services do not depend on your location; however, some Services are location-enabled. When you use a location-enabled Sharecare service, we may collect and process information about your actual location, like GPS signals sent by a mobile device. We may also use various technologies to determine location, such as sensor data from your device that may, for example, provide information on nearby Wi-Fi access points and cell towers.
  - Unique Application Numbers. Certain Services include a unique application number. This number and information about your installation (for example, the operating system type and application version number) may be sent to Sharecare when you install or uninstall that service or when that service periodically contacts our servers, such as for automatic updates.
  - Local Storage. We may collect and store information (including Personal Information) locally on your device using mechanisms such as browser web storage (including HTML 5) and application data caches.
  - Cookies and Anonymous Identifiers. We use various technologies to collect and store information when you visit a Sharecare service, and this may include sending one or more cookies or anonymous identifiers to your device, pursuant to our Cookie Policy (https://www.sharecare.com/static/cookie-policy). We also use cookies and anonymous identifiers when you interact with Services we offer to our partners, such as Sharecare features that may appear on other sites. See the section "Transparency, Your Privacy Rights, Choices, and Account Termination" below for information about your opt-out choices.

Your Enterprise Organization may require Sharecare to share your Personal Information with the following:

In such cases, it may be necessary for us to disclose your information to those service providers. In some cases, the service providers may collect information directly from you on our behalf. We restrict how such service providers may access, use and disclose your information. We employ other companies and individuals to perform functions on our behalf. Examples include processing compensation, providing employee benefits, and performing legal and other professional services. These agents may have access to your information as needed to perform their functions, but they are not permitted to use it for other purposes.
