Therapy may be free for you. Check your eligibility

When you enroll, inquire about enrolling for, or use Talkspace Services (as defined below), we keep a record of medical information that you provide to us or your therapist as well as any medical information that Talkspace employees or independently contracted therapists provide to you via our platform (such as information on and related to your diagnosis). Medical information means any information that:

- identifies you; and
- relates to your past, present, or future physical or mental health, treatment, the provision of health care services or payment for treatment.

This includes medical history, diagnoses, treatments, current medical condition, and use of prescription medications. If you are a US subscriber to Talkspace services, your personal data in our possession is protected health information ("PHI") protected by the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996, as amended ("HIPAA"), and the applicable provisions of the Health Information Technology for Economic and Clinical Health ("HITECH") Act. In addition to this Privacy Policy, the HIPAA Notice of Privacy Practices of Talkspace or your Talkspace Provider apply to your PHI.

Peer Support Services

We may offer opportunities to participate in moderated peer support forums, such as Teenspace Community ("Peer Support Services"). Peer Support Services are not a substitute for therapy and when you participate you acknowledge and agree that Peer Support Services do not provide you with therapy or other healthcare-related services. When you submit a post or comment using the Peer Support Services, other users will be able to see the contents of the post or comment, the username associated with the post or comment, the date and time you originally submitted the post or comment, your state of residence, and your age. Your post or comment may be re-posted or re-

For purposes of this Policy, "personal data" means information that relates to an identified or identifiable individual, and includes "personal information" or "personally identifiable information." To "process" or "processing" means the use of personal data including, collecting, recording, storing, using, analyzing, combining, transferring, disclosing, or deleting.

Changes to this Policy

We reserve the right to change the terms of this Policy at any time by posting those changes in revisions to this Policy, so that you are always aware of our processes related to collection, use and disclosure of information. If we change the Policy in a material way, we will provide appropriate notice to you, such as via our website. We urge you to check here for any updates to this Policy from time to time. Unless otherwise indicated, any changes to this Policy will apply immediately upon posting to the Website or the App.

What is included in this Policy?

The information on this page applies to the personal data we collect about your interactions, use, and experience with our website at https://www.talkspace.com (our "Website"), our app on iOS or Android (our "App"), and in connection with the online therapy services we provide (the Website, App and our online therapy services are together, the "Services"). As noted below, our data practices depend on how you interact with our Services, and how you receive and pay for Services, for example whether purchasing Services as a consumer or receiving them through an employment-related benefit.

This Policy does not apply to any other websites that you visit before our Website or any third-party sites that may be accessible through the Talkspace Services. Please read this Policy carefully so that you understand your rights in relation to personal data, and how we will process that personal data. This Policy supplements our Notice of Privacy Practices (for US patients) any other privacy related disclosures we may provide from time to time (including during your enrollment or management of your account with Talkspace) and is not intended to override them.

If you do not want us to share personal data or feel uncomfortable with the ways we use information in order to deliver our Services, please do not use the Services.

Information Disclosure

Service Providers: We may disclose the information we collect from and about you, including each category of your personal data identified in this Policy, to our service providers to perform a business, commercial, technical, advertising, marketing, analytics, or other support function for us, to help us operate our business, to administer activities on our behalf, or as otherwise described to you at the point of collection.

Partners: We may disclose information described under "Persistent Identifiers" in the above Personal Data Processing chart, to our business partners and third parties, such as data analytics providers, advertising technology vendors, third-party advertising networks, and social media platforms, for purposes of providing personalized advertising, marketing, and analytics-related services.

Legal Compliance and Corporate Transactions: Talkspace may be required to disclose your personal data (a) to government and law enforcement authorities to comply with legal or regulatory obligations or requests, (b) to certain third parties such as an acquiring entity or advisers in the event of a reorganization, merger, sale, joint venture, assignment, transfer, or other disposition of all or any portion of our business, assets, or stock (including in connection with a bankruptcy or similar proceeding), or (c) where we believe disclosure is necessary or appropriate to (i) comply with applicable law, (ii) enforce our terms and conditions; (iii) protect our operations; (iv) protect our rights, privacy, safety, or property, and/or those of you or others; and (v) allow us to pursue available remedies or limit damages that we may sustain.

Consent: Where applicable, we may use or disclose your personal data for other reasons as described to you at the time of data collection or otherwise with your customer service contacts regarding subscriptions and service, and processing device identifiers and event logs for ad attribution purposes (such as the initial login event, account creation, subscription events). These third parties process data as a service to Talkspace only, pursuant to written agreements. Talkspace does not sell client information to third parties.

Advanced Data Processing

The Talkspace therapy experience is enhanced by advanced data processing activities, carried out in order to measure and improve clinical outcomes. Our proprietary matching algorithm and machine-learning tools provide real-time engagement insights, inform treatment, and track clinical progress, and are fundamental to our precision therapy care delivery model.

Matching Algorithm. During onboarding we ask you to provide information so that we can assess your condition and incorporate your preferences. We then leverage a proprietary algorithm (and/or support from a Talkspace consultant) to match you to a provider.

Optimizing Diagnosis and Treatment. Throughout your experience, your provider uses the Talkspace Services to manage your diagnosis and treatment plan. The advanced machine learning features of our proprietary Services include natural language processing of communications with therapists. A core focus of our machine learning strategy is to provide the therapist with insights on patient needs and behaviours and offer techniques and suggestions that we believe are likely to maximize clinical outcomes. We also use advanced machine learning features to generate therapy notes where requested by our therapists.

What choices do you have about how we collect or use your information?

When you create a Talkspace account or otherwise use the Talkspace Services, we collect (or you may provide us with) your email address, and you have the choice to receive newsletters or promotional material about our services at this address. These messages may be tailored to your responses to onboarding surveys so that you receive information relevant to you. You can further manage your email preferences by unsubscribing from emails (via the link in the message), emailing privacy@talkspace.com or by visiting our online preference center within the App or the Website.

In addition to your rights as a patient as set out in the Notice of Privacy Practices, you can ask us to:

- Stop sending marketing or promotional emails and mobile marketing communications from Talkspace.
- Limit the use of cookies, pixels, or web beacons.
- If you are a EU, EEA or UK user, you can also exercise the rights set out below.
- Certain California residents may have additional rights set out below.
- Remove your posts or comments when you use our Peer Support Services.

To ask us about these choices, contact us.
